6. Why should we work with you?

The Alpine SPICE service acronym gives registered members the Alpine advantage of exceptional tours services to their clients. Support, Partnership, Information, Credibility and Experience

Support

Our self-booking portal has been designed from a thorough understanding of the business needs of the tour agent looking to sell vacation packages from the comfort of their office. With the best self-booking tool, we help agencies become a one stop shop for multiple destinations and holiday services by broadening their tours portfolio across a variety of destinations, affording their clients competitive rates from our collection of vacation deals without compromising on quality.

Partnership

No destination is too remote, no destination is too strange as we are native to all and we know just where to take the client for a great holiday experience. With an enduring partnership fostered with the top-rated providers across the different service points in the industry we help our members package any destination of their client's choice.

Riding on the power of collaboration, we also encourage members to design packages for their own local destinations which we make available for other members of the network to sell.

Information

Continual supply of information to our members from regular updates by our network of providers deepens knowledge of our members which is key component in service delivery. Whatever destination the client chooses, members are armed with the correct and current information to help them make the right decision.

Credibility

Round the clock availability and timely response to queries helps members deliver on all promises to earn the trust of the clients. Our members booking portal is populated with diverse tour components from variety of providers so members can match the unique needs of each client. And our ground handlers are painstakingly selected to ensure that what has been proposed by the agent at one end is well executed on the other.

Experience

We boost our members experience by providing continuing education by way of trainings, updates and Fam trip for them to experience firsthand some of the destinations they sell.
